

I claim:

1. An elongated member for a small watercraft with fin and sail being covered by an airfoil means; said airfoil means being rotatable about the longitudinal centerline of the portion of the elongated member being covered.

2. A watercraft according to claim 1, wherein a lock/release mechanism controlling the rotation of the airfoil means is installed on the elongated member.